Beer

One Great City's Monkey Trail Pale Ale, a classic American pale ale. Light and easy drinking bright hop character with a soft malt background. Light bready malt character gives way to grapefruit and lemon scented hops. Taste similar to aroma, light bready character provides a nice base to the hops, light bitterness partners citrus notes, grapefruit and lemon most prominent among them.

The Queen's Best Bitter: One Great City's extra special bitter has a stronger malt profile with a nutty finish that balances the bitterness. A large hop profile of noble hops gives the beer an earthiness and floral character; a strong malt base of nut and stone fruits, balanced with an equally strong hop character of earthy and floral tones. If you are just starting your journey into craft beer, this is an excellent introduction.

Falcon Blonde: This American blonde ale is One Great City's easy drinking, most approachable beer. Brilliantly clear and a light malt character make for a great stepping stone from the world of American lagers. The aroma is slightly fruity with distinct ale yeast character and some malt breadiness which persists in flavour. There is also tight malt sweetness followed along with some background fruitiness, pear and citrus notes being the most prominent.

One Great City's Intrepid NEIPA: Heavily dry hops to the point of being hazy with a full body. Intense yet smooth tropical fruit hop aroma and flavour and minimal bitterness. This beer might change your mind on what an IPA can be.

Fort Garry Brewing Company's Thom Borgen Coffee Stout: A small batch, cold-brewed coffee stout, naturally-aged, without preservatives. This beer is dry hopped with locally roasted Los Naranjos, Colombia coffee beans from Thom Borgen Coffee Roasters which bring out the chocolate and coffee notes naturally present in the malt. A nutty character and just a hint of burnt sugar flavour round out this full body beer.
