The difference is a large chamomile addition making our Wit incredibly smooth.

Books

Dearly by Margaret Atwood: Moving, playful and wise, the poems gathered in Dearly are about absences and endings, ageing and retrospection, but also about gifts and renewals. Before she became one of the world's most important and loved novelists, Atwood was a poet. Dearly is her first collection in over a decade. It is a pure Atwood delight, and long-term readers and new fans alike will treasure its insight, empathy and humour.

Treed, Walking in Canada's Urban Forests by Ariel Gordon: With intimacy and humour, award-winning Winnipeg poet Ariel Gordon walks us through the streets of Winnipeg and into the urban forest that is, to her, the city's heart. She then travels to BC's northern Rockies, Banff National Park and a cattle farm in rural Manitoba, and helps us to consider what we expect of nature.

The Beautiful Bailout by Shaun Loney: Business savvy non-profits and socially savvy investors have Canada on the cusp of a social innovation breakthrough. Loney's plan is to leave the child welfare crisis, ballooning health care costs and epidemic levels of incarceration behind for good. To make it over the tipping point, governments only need to say "yes" to a shockingly simple question.

The Maze at Windermere by Gregory Blake Smith: When a drunken party guest challenges him to a late-night tennis match, Sandy Allison finds himself unexpectedly entangled in the monied world of Newport, Rhode Island. A former touring pro a little down on his luck, Sandy has nothing to stake against the vintage motorcycle his opponent wagers. But then Alice DuPont – the young heiress to a Newport mansion called Windermere – offers up her diamond necklace.

Wisdom at the Crossroads by Amanda Onchulenko: Images from Amanda Onchulenko's painting practice provide the illustrations for the text that comes from being mindful and attentive to intuitive details in the everyday.
